Battle Song for Freedom.

BY GAIL HAMILTON. Men of action! men of might! Stern defenders of the right !

Are you girded for the fight? Have you marked and trenched the ground, Where the din of arms must sound, Ere the victor can be crowned !

Have you guarded well the coast? Have you marshaled all your host? Standeth each man at his post?

Have you counted up the cost, What is gained and what is lost, When the foe your lines have crost?

Gained-the infamy of fame: Gained-a dastard's deathless name Gained-eternity of shame.

Lost-desert of manly worth : Lost-the right you had by birth : Lost-lost! Freedom for the Earth! Freemen! up! the foe is nearing!

Haughty banners high uprearing-Lo! their serried ranks appearing. Freemen! on! the drums are beating! Will you shrink from such a meeting?

Forward! give them here greeting! From your hearths, and homes, and altars, Backward huri your proud assaulters : He is not a man that falters.

Hush! the hour of fate is nigh : By the God who dwells on high, Oh! my brothers! do or die!

VARIETY.

If you employ your money in doing good, you put it out at the best interest.

A pleasant jest in misfortune is courage to the intellectual building, giving grace and strength to the entire structure. Men spend their lives in the service of their passions, instead of employing their passions in the service of their lives. Domestic jars, when concealed, are half reconciled. It is a double task to stop the breach at home and men's mouths abroad. Time has made life too long for our hopes, but too brief for our deeds.

A good looking young lady recently entered a dyer's shop and thus accosted him: "You are the man that dyes, are you not?" "No," replied the gallant," "I'm the man that lives : but I'll die for you."

POETRY.-Ebenezer Elliott says :- " Poetry, like truth, is a common flower; God has sown it over the earth, like daisies, sprinkled with tears, or glowing in the sun, even as He places the crocus and the March frosts together and beautifully mingles life and death."

A VERSE CONTAINING EVERY LETTER IN THE ENG-LISH LANGUAGE EXCEPT E .-

A jovial swain may rack his brain, And tax his fancy's might; To quiz is vain, for 'tis most plain, That what I say is right.

ALPHABETS .- The number of letters in the alphabets of different languages is as follows: English, 26; French, 25; German, 26; Spanish, 24; Dutch, 26; Greek, 24; Latin, 25; Slavonie, 27; Arabic, 28; Persian, 31; Turkish, 33; Georgian, 36; Hebrew, Chaldee, Syriac, and Samaritan, each 22; Coptic, 32; Sanscrit, 50; Bengalese, 21; Burmese, 19; Cherokee,

We assemble conventions and councils to have the benefit of their collected wisdom, not always remembering that we must necessarily have, at the same time, the evils of their collected passions, prejudices and private interests.

A little Swedish girl, while walking with her father on a starry night, absorbed in contemplation | Dealer in Genera Merchandise, Hilo, Hawaii. Ships supplied of the skies, being asked of what she was thinking, replied, "I was thinking if the wrong side of heaven is so glorious, what must the right side be?"

was overtaken by a heavy shower of rain. On arriving at the vestry, he exclaimed, rather impatiently, " I wish I were dry?" "Never mind," said his colleague, "you will soon be in the pulpit, and there you will be dry enough."

SHARP -Mr. George Sharp, commonly called by his friends G. Shorp, looking rather dull one evening, in company, a friend observed, "G. Sharp is in rather a low key." "Oh," replied a young lady, "any one knows that G Sharp is A flat."

PUZZLING QUESTION .- A little friend of ours, a few days ago, while coming down stairs, was cautioned by his mother not to lose his balance. His question which followed was a puzzler: " Mother, if I should lose my balance, where would it go to?"

GOOD MANNERS AMONG CHILDNEE.—It is a very graceful habit for all children to say to each other, "Will you have the goodness?" and "I thank you." We do not like to see prim, artificial children; there are few things we dislike so much as a minia-ture beau or belle. But the habit of good manners by no means implies affectation or restraint. It is quite as easy to say, " Please give me a piece of pie," as to say, "I want a piece of pie."

The idea that constant politeness would render social life stiff and restrained, springs from a false estimate of it. True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you would like to be treated yourself. A person who acts from this principle will always be said to have sweet, pretty ways with her.

It is of some consequence that your daughter should know how to enter and leave a room grace- chung Boon. fully; but it is of much more consequence that she should avoid what is offensive to others, and prefer their pleasure to her own.

The Editor's Drawer is Harper's depository of fun. Nothing else is allowed to stray into it but wit and humor. A very good thing it is, too, in its way. True, there is some very poor attempts at wit in it; but scarcely a number comes out in which something new and good in this department is not found. Here is a very good anecdote, reminding one somewhat of Mrs. Stowe's "Topsy :"

" During the last Winter a ' contraband' came into the Federal lines in North Carolina, and was marched up to the officer of the day to give an account of himself, whereupon the following colloquy ensued: . What's your name?"

" My name's Sam." Sam what?"

' No, sah; not Sam Watt. I'se jist Sam.' . What's your other name ?"

'I hasn't got no oder name, sah. I'se Sam-dat's

. What's your master's name?' 'I'se got no massa now; massa runned away-yah !

yah! I'se free nigger now.' · Well, what's your father's and mother's name?' 'I'se got none, sah-neber had none. I'se jist Sam-ain't nobody else.' ' Haven't you any brothers and sisters?' ' No, suh ! neber had none. No brudder, no sister, ne fader, no mudder, no massa-nothin' but Sam When you see Sam you see all dere is of us.' "
